“The Sadies are Canada’s greatest living rock band.” - Noisey-Vice

“...while others in Americana field get stuck in a groove, that will never be a problem with the Sadies and Northern Passages is a worthy entry in the notable catalog of a now-veteran act who refuse to be pigeonholed.” - American Songwriter

(February 28, 2017 - Toronto, ON) The Sadies have announced a very special Northern Passages release show on Saturday, March 11 at the newly-renovated The Royal on College Street in Toronto. The iconic four-piece will perform two sets to entertain fans who attend and film some performance footage. Tickets are only $20 and are available at The Royal’s website HERE. Northern Passages is the band’s most recent, widely-acclaimed studio album on Dine Alone Records (Canada) and Yep Roc Records (US). See below for show times.

Recorded in the basement of Dallas and Travis’ parents’ home north of Toronto over the winter of 2015, the familiar surroundings and lack of distractions resulted in a consistent feel, despite the eclecticism at the heart of The Sadies’ sound. The essence of The Sadies’ story can be summed up with the powerful image of the aurora borealis adorning the cover of their latest album, Northern Passages. Ever since the quartet, comprised of singer/guitarists Dallas and Travis Good, bassist Sean Dean and drummer Mike Belitsky, first arrived on the North American scene more than 20 years ago, their music has never been less than awe-inspiring, with no embellishment necessary.
