THE FRANKLIN ELECTRIC RELEASE VIDEO FOR “BURNING FLAME” WATCH + SHARE VIDEO HERE

TORONTO TOUR DATE NOVEMBER 2 AT THE MOD CLUB

LP BLUE CEILINGS OUT NOW
Available via Indica Records and iTunes

(Toronto, ON - July 25, 2017) - Montreal-based alt-folk band The Franklin Electric has released the video for the soulful and haunting single “Burning Flame”. Watch + share video here + they recently performed the song live in the National Post Session Studio, watch here. The video was filmed in Toronto and features an All-Canadian production team. The band released their highly anticipated sophomore album titled Blue Ceilings earlier this year via Indica Records and includes the singles “I Know The Feeling”, “Walk With You”, “Someone Just Like You” and “Burning Flame”. The quartet who has amassed more than 5 million streams (Spotify, Deezer) start their tour in Europe next week and will have Canadian dates this fall. The band will perform in Toronto at the The Mod Club on November 2. See below for full routing.

Jon's Quote about the song + video:

"This was a spontaneous last minute addition to the record about the fire that feeds us and brings us to do all the things we do, or ignore the things we don't do but wish we had. A voice inside most of us that can easily be ignored but the burn is a constant reminder. This video was all about the casting! I walked in the day of the shoot and met George, who plays the main role in this music video. He is the most endearing, honest, pure, yet driven 17 year old kid I have ever met. From that moment I was sold on the director's story & concept. I invite you to meet George for yourself."

The Franklin Electric's soaring and anthemic debut album, This Is How I Let You Down, was first released independently before catching the attention of Montreal's Indica Records (Half Moon Run, Phantogram) who were blown away by the band's sound. The label reissued the LP in 2014 featuring various remixes and two new songs to much critical acclaim for both their recording and their incredible chops live. Striking for both its stunning chord changes and mature musings of life and love, the title track's video quickly racked up over 250,000 Youtube views, launching the band into the spotlight. The Franklin Electric amassed an avid fanbase and rave reviews after spending 2015 playing over 180 shows from Canada to Australia - including 3 tours of Europe alone – opening for the likes of Ben Howard, Mumford and Sons, Edward Sharpe and the Magnetic Zeroes, City & Colour, and Half Moon Run. Last year, TFE attracted newfound attention and a slew of new fans after their performance on The Bachelorette Canada during a scene filmed at Chateau Vieux-Montreal. The band has now performed over 300 shows all over the world including a date that meant a lot to them in their hometown at the Montreal International Jazz Festival.
